

Pain is a message you do not have to listen to

Kids Kicking Cancer's Heroes Circle program provides therapeutic martial arts classes and hospital visits for children and teens with any pediatric illness. Weekly classes at hospitals, clinics, and even the children's homes, teach traditional karate moves along with the mind-body techniques of meditation, breathing, relaxation, and visualization to dramatically lower pain levels.

Kids Kicking Cancer's mission is: To ease the pain of very sick children while empowering them to heal physically, spiritually and emotionally

Using martial arts therapy,

Kids Kicking Cancer teaches seriously ill children & their siblings to:

- Regain a sense of control over the chaos of their lives
- Become empowered partners in their own healing
- Push away the messages of pain, fear, and anger
- Provide inspiration and light to others facing life-challenges
- Teach other children, and even adults, how to take control
- See themselves as victors, not victims

Martial arts techniques unlock the student's POWER, and the focused breathing and relaxation work brings them PEACE.

While teaching Kids Kicking Cancer's Breath Brake® to others, they find great PURPOSE in their young lives.

All services provided by Kids Kicking Cancer are at no cost to the children and their families. Children 3 years & older, and their siblings are eligible for the program.

HISTORY

Kids Kicking Cancer was created in 1999 by Rabbi Elimelech Goldberg, a black belt rabbi and clinical assistant professor of pediatrics. Rabbi G lost his first child to leukemia at the age of two and brings a wealth of personal experience and sensitivity to dealing with children and families facing life-threatening illness.

This program, which began with a handful of children at Children's Hospital of Michigan, now teaches over 7,000 children and teens a year in 90 hospitals and program locations in 7 countries.

The most unique and powerful element of the model is that each child becomes a teacher to others. Kids Kicking Cancer's mantra is Power Peace Purpose. When asked what is your purpose? The children yell out, "To teach the world."

Kids Kicking Cancer also has a "black-belt" program for patients who are not responding to treatments. This end of life care program provides ongoing meditation and family focus in a palliative format that culminates in the child receiving a black-belt.

Embroidered on the black-belt are the words "Master Teacher" because that child is truly teaching the world how to use the power of light to break through darkness.

Rabbi Goldberg is an awardee of the Robert

Wood Johnson, Community Health Leaders Award in Washington D.C., known as the United States' highest award in community public health. He has been honored as a Hero in People Magazine, CNN Top Ten Heroes, and the Ford Motor Company's Heroes Gallery, amongst the many media stories featuring the work of Kids Kicking Cancer.

A 2016 study in the Journal of Pediatric Health, Medicine and Therapeutics evidenced

how Kids Kicking Cancer's

techniques profoundly lower the pain of sick children.
